Mr. Cho works for an electronics store in a community near the university. He hires clerks to assist the manager of the store. The store has a tradition of selling the newest, most advanced electronic devices. Mr. Cho knows these devices are important to young adults. In fact, most of the store's customers are young. Consequently, he wants to hire young adults. He assumes that young customers will be more comfortable with young sales clerks. However, he does not want to hire anyone without sufficient knowledge of electronic devices. He also wants to be sure anyone he hires is physically able to lift the heavy pieces of equipment. These factors guide Mr. Cho in hiring suitable workers.

2. What does the place that he works for sell?
3. What are the two reasons why Mr. Cho wants to employ young adult clerks?
4. What kind of information is required for someone who wants to work as a sales clerk?
5. What is the other factor that Mr. Cho considers when choosing the right applicant to be a clerk?
